

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE – VSAV TOOLKIT

The Toolkit has been tested with young people in the classroom by educators and teachers, they gave us a list of hints and tips to support the use of the toolkit in the classroom or with youth groups as well as lots of other informal, non-formal and formal educational settings.

We hope these hints will help you get even more out of the Toolkit.

- Feel to adapt the activities and/or timing to your learning context;
- Feel free to pick and choose issues and activities to use with your students. You don't need to do each unit in its entirety;
- The assessment methods included are suggestions that can help you and the students consolidate the learning process however you can choose to use the assessment method that you think better for your context;
- Try and integrate the toolkit into your learning community – share it with your colleagues and your students' parents – this will make the impact even more sustainable;
- The development of digital competences is an interdisciplinary action, therefore these activities can be used whilst teaching many different subjects.
